*"The Flaming
Hibiscus"*

The

Hibiscus

The flowers of the Flaming Hibiscus have long been associated, in song and story, with the spirit of romance. In the Islands of the South Seas, dusky maidens tuck these blossoms into their dark tresses and dance beneath the moon. The tropical forests are afire with their radiant loveliness.

One finds them in the native hut and the house of the foreigner alike, swaying at the tips of fragile bamboo stalks in gorgeous bouquets, or placed informally on mats or flat plates quite guiltless of water. They are loved and revered for their exotic color and form.

Is it not strange that, in Southern California's semi-tropical climate, they are accorded such meagre welcome, such scant consideration in our garden scheme?

Hibiscus are evergreen, vigorous growers and bloom profusely throughout the warm weather.

AGNES GAULT	single	Large salmon-rose; a most worthy subject.
ALOHA	single	Huge cerise-vermilion of great beauty.
BALI	double	Large and charming mandarin-yellow.
BONNIE CLARE	single	Beautiful golden-buff of heroic size.
CALIFORNIA GOLD	single	And this one is yellow with orange tips.
CECILE	single	New, very large pink and gold. Exquisite.
CHALA	single	Very dainty is this clear golden yellow.
CORAL REEFS	single	Immense coral-salmon with crinkled petals, yellow underneath. A ravishing beauty.
DARK EYES	single	Small flower of softest pink with velvety maroon eye. Unusual.
FAIR JEANNETTE	single	Here is a large, soft pink with sulphur yellow on reverse of petals. Lovely.
FLAMING DAWN	double	Gorgeous, very large golden-buff with crimson and violet at base of petals.
FLEURON	double	This gay pink resembles a huge rose which the name implies.
HAWAIIAN MOON	single	Crisp, canary yellow with white center and orange tipped style. Unusual.
HONOLULU	single	Large shrimp pink with golden lining.
KILAUEA	single	Large, hardy scarlet commonly known as San Diego Red.
MURIEL EVANS	single	Cinnabar and gold, striped in white. Resembles a lily. Charming.
OAHU	single	Large, Chinese-bronze red. Striking.
PRINCE SAKAMOTO	single	Mammoth, brilliant red of spreading habit.
PRINCESS DERLING	single	Good, medium size, bright rose-pink.
PSYCHE	single	An adorable, miniature, fluted red. Fine grown as a standard.
PURITY	single	Very large, pure white. A true aristocrat. Fragrant.
SINGING SURF	double	Clear, bright yellow of interesting form because of its attractive twisted petals.
WAIKIKI	single	A lovely free blooming buff of medium size.
WHITE WINGS	single	Quite different is this huge white with narrow petals, maroon eye and vermilion-tipped style.
WHIRLIGIG	double	Just bewitching with its twisted form of lacquer red; and many others.

We offer, herein, a list which we consider representative of the most desirable Hibiscus to be found in the country. All are reasonably hardy and are not particular as to the kind of soil or fertilizer, provided they are given a sunny exposure, sufficient water and good drainage.
